Transitioning is a growing period for all involved. Watching a young person try different paths is both exciting and challenging. Trusting the community, relying on others, and believing in the adult system are big steps for those who have been filling these roles for the past number of years. Transition planning is a nice way to move towards these new partnerships. It is our hope that the following information will provide a guided path to enhance your family’s journey and begin some of these partnerships.

At Age 14:

- Connect with your Service Coordinator (SC) at Gateways Community Services monthly. Discuss your ideas and fears for future planning. Be sure to learn what types of supports are available in the community for employment skill and development, independent living, and social skill development.
- Begin to think about vocational and employment goals. Talk about the different professions/careers you see when out in the community (waitresses, post office, cashier, receptionist).
- Use a simple health and life skills assessment tool to find out what you need to work on for health care.
- Begin practicing the names of health care providers and begin learning names of medications and what they are treating.
- Sign up for Gateways -Family Advocacy Network (G-FAN) for Legislative update e-mails at https://www.gatewayscs.org/get-involved/legislative-advocacy/. Only through advocacy have individuals with disabilities gained protections and opportunities to live meaningful lives outside of institutions. Many of NH’s strongest advocates were first impassioned by the grave conditions of the past, including at the Laconia State School. Now, we need rejuvenated support to maintain best practices and improve and expand upon services.
- Join the Gateways Facebook page to stay informed.
- Identify with your school team through transition planning when you will be exiting the high school. Will you wait for your diploma? Will you stay until 21 years of age? Will you exit before 21 without a diploma?

At Age 15:

- Discuss long term support models and learn about the philosophy that the Bureau of Developmental Services and Gateways Community Services has for focusing on employment as an indicator of higher quality of life.
- Identify your long-term funding support needs and share with your Family Support Service Coordinator (FSSC). Your FSSC will enter the information in the state web registry on the Project Service Needs List.
- Discuss with your FSSC community resources that you could engage in now. Community involvement leads to more inclusive and independent lives as well as builds social capital.
- Plan and practice questions to ask at health care visits. Begin scheduling your own appointments.
- Ensure you can talk about medical conditions and medications.
- Make sure your medical professionals and school team talks to you not just your parents.

At Age 16:

- Connect with your Service Coordinator monthly to discuss progress, community supports, employment opportunities, and education.
Begin Transition Planning, if you have not already, to create a picture of what resources and service models are available upon exiting High School. (Life Course Framework and/or Person-Centered Planning)

Work with your SC to make a formal request for long term supports to the Bureau of Developmental Services through the Projected Service Needs List if you have not already done so.

Identify personal learning styles and accommodations for learning and working.

Consider requesting a vocational assessment to help you coordinate your transition plan for employment.

Discuss taking on new responsibilities to develop decision making-skills and independence.

Discuss Graduation options i.e.: Certificate vs. Diploma.

Continue to be involved in the IEP process. Be sure to develop post-secondary goals in the IEP. Include employment, independent living skills, and social skills. Your SC and school district can assist you with development of these goals. Be sure to discuss the timeline for exiting High School.

Develop an employment profile.

Obtain a non-driver’s ID.

Begin to explore local transportation options.

Advocate staying in school until transition plan is complete and that prepares for an adult life.

Learn about the Supports Intensity Scale (SIS).

Provide Gateways with your Medicaid number and sign Consent to Bill form if you have Medicaid.

Discuss your plan for education about health & fitness, relationships and sexuality.

Continue to learn how to manage health condition(s) with support as needed. How often do you need to be seen? How do you keep track of any symptoms? How do your medications make you feel?

At Age 17:

Learn about applying to Social Security and Medicaid for benefits and understand how work incentives can help to maintain benefits while working. Vocational Rehabilitation can assist.

Discuss Guardianship and alternatives to guardianship. Start process at 17.5 years of age with probate court.

Make appropriate arrangements for financial resources (special needs trust etc.) that will not impact benefits (SSI & Medicaid).

Participate in Gateways Community Services transition events and benefits counseling.

Advocate staying in school until you have completed a transition plan that prepares you for adult life.

Update your employment profile as you develop a clear plan and learn more about your preferences for employment.

Be sure that the IEP includes a specific plan of coordinated events to help individual reach their future goals. The goals in the IEP should closely align with reaching these goals. Person Centered Planning and Life Course Framework can help with this process. Contact your FSSC for support.

If graduating with a Regular Educational Diploma, make sure that IEP contains accommodations that can be utilized in college or lifelong learning opportunities. Accommodation may include, extended time on tests, taking the test in a different environment, audio textbooks, note taker, and scribe.
